Fast Cheboygan Team Bow to their Superiors-G. H. S.

Two fine games of basket ball were staged on the home floor last week, on Friday when the fast Cheboygan team were trimmed by a score of 24 to 10 by Grayling High, and on Saturday night when the Grayling Independents took the Bay City Industrials team into camp to the tune of 24 to 8. The brand of basket ball that our High School plays deserves every bit of support that former-teams have had. Let's get behind them and turn out to our next game with lots of pep.

Grayling-Bay City Game.

The game between the Bay City Industrials and Grayling Independents started out with a rush and at the end of the first half the acore board registered 10 and 6 in the Independents favor. It looked at this time as though Grayling would have to work to keep shead, but in the second frame the locals completely outplayed the Bay Cityans. Our boys were in fine form and with Thompson at his usual stand and Morrow, made a formidable barrier-to the visitors. The visiting team—the Bay City Industrials were former stars of the Eastern and Westewn-High of that place and came to Grayling with the reputation of being Bay City's fast. place and came to Grayling with the reputation of being Bay City's fast-est team.

Save it to apply to flowers and shrubbery next spring. It is a highly nitrogenous fertilizer. We waste too much of many things.

Buy your seed early or you are going to find good seed mighty hard to get. This is the advice the Michigan State Farm Bureau seed department has for farm bureau members. Markets are going up right along and it is the opinion of the department that there are scarcely enough stocks of good clover and alsike to go around. Ninety per cent of the timothy crophas left the producer and is now in strong terminal hands, and those concerns may be depended upon to take erns may be depended upon to take all the traffic will bear.

The game was a victory but not from a financial stand point. If the people of Grayling expect to have athletics upheld in their school they will have to get out and support them. The brand of basket ball that our High School plays deserves every bit of support that former teams have

Farmer Seldom Wins Taking Seed Chances.

Gambling on seed purchases shows only niggardly returns for farmers when the gamble succeeds, and tre-mendous losses when it fails as it usually does, says the State farm bureau. Gambling in seed is brought about by men waiting until the last minute to get their seed. Too often they have to take what no one else cared

The farm bureau says that if far-mers buy their seed now and assure themselves of the best, seed that is adapted, weed free and will grow, price is the small consideration. If n man buys now, planning to seed 10 pounds to the acre and the price of seed goes up $3 a bushel, he gains 50 cents an acre; if it drops $3 he loags 50 cents an acre—a negligible sum; but he has real seed in his barn. That s the important item.

If a man waits and gets the tail and seed offerings, often imported or outhern grown seed, weed infeste and unadapted, he is in for trouble If he pays $10 to $15 a bushel for such stuff and sows it 10 pounds to the acre, he lets himself in for a possible loss of $2.50 per acre on seed, not to mention the loss of the expected crop and his time and labor.

HE scene is laid chiefly in St. Louis between 1857 and 1865. Stephen Brice, of the Bruh min class of Boston, after his father's business failure and death, came with his mother to St. Louis, there to study and practice law in the office of his father's friend, Judge Silas Whipple. Colonel Comyn Carvel, was beautiful and distinguished. The colonel was of an old Maryland family. He was the leading dry goods merchant of St. Louis and a veteran of the Mexican War. Judge Whipple was taciturn and abrupt. He concealed a generous heart under a forbidding exterior. He slept in his office. He was a "black" Republican. He secured clients because they needed his professional ability took Sunday dinner at Colonel where the discussion over slavery in Virginia's hearing went on with a plainness of speech that only bardons Colfax and leaves Brice and the lifelong friendship of the two men. Clarence Colfax, the son of a rich widow, was Virginia's cousin. He ran race horses, he fought gamecocks. He had "a commanding indolence." He believed society based on slavery was divinely_appointed. Masterful, courage ous, athletic and handsome, he was a true cavalier, useless except for war.

The events of the story sport with the natural antagonism, in tradition convictions, of the Puritan Stephen Brice and the Lady of the Cavaliers, Virginia Carvel. They met first at a slave market. A beautiful-quad roon is put up for sale. With all his buy the girl from a life of shame with bidder and then free her Virginia, through Colfax, also bids for the girl to use her as a maid. M. M. Duncan's Views on Public Expenditures in the State.

Herewith is a bulletin issued by the Michigan Manufacturers Associa-tion which contains a letter writter by Mr. M. M. Duncan, Vice President of the Cleveland-Cliffs Mining Company, Ispheming, Mich., to the Michigan Legislative Tax Commission in reference to public expenditures within the State. Mr. Duncan points out very properly—that Michigan—expenditures have increased faster than those of any state located in Middle Western Territory. His statement is interesting, and indirectly points out the necessity for "outting on the of the Cleveland-Clifis Mining Com the necessity for "putting on the brakes" in public expenses. His

Following is his view point: "As your committee has requeste taxpayers to express their desire to call your attention to in my opinion, is the subject of ost practical importance at this to call your attention to what opinion, is the subject of greatviz: the enormous increase in public oxpenditures and the imperative nec-essity of reducing them. This sub-ject already has been vigorously com-mented upon by Governor Grosbeck and is, I know, receiving his careful consideration, but his efforts should have the backing of strong public op-inion. The conditions to which I re-fer arose prior to his administration. "While it is well known that pub-ic expenditures have increased rapid-y in recent years, I do not believe it is generally known that the cost of government in Michigan, which has always been high, has increased much more rapidly than in adjoining Gives Comparative Figures.

"I have taken for comparison Michigan. Wisconsin and Minnesota, all of which are located in the Great Lake district, and are states in which the mining industry is largely developed. The figures given below were obtain ed either from reports published by the tax commissions of these structure or else directly from their offices. The five years covered represent; of course the period of great increases in all costs, but these conditions applies costs, but these conditions applied equally to all the states. The figures cover all taxes raised for state purposes by direct assessment as distinguished from special taxes derived from railroads and other sources.

"In some states there were other sources of income, as for example, the income derived by Minne oto from iron ere royalties, and Wisconsin had an income tax law. However er these figures will serve as an ap Michigan, on the other hand, was compelled to issue bonds to pay its soldiers' bonus. Futhermore. Mich igan now has a corporation franchise fee law. "I cannot find accurate figures for comparing the property valuation of these states, but the following will give a rough idea of the situation: I: 1920 the equalized valuation of Michigan was $4,500,000,000 which was considerably less than its total assessed valuation; in Wisconsin the total negaged valuation was 4 570 698 520 assessed valuation was 4,3 re-property value was placed at 6,201,541,397 but under its method of assessing at partial valwithe assessed valuation was place

'Michigan Costs Highest. "Allowing for all differences in cir-cumetances,— it is clearly apparent that Michigan has outstripped its neighbors not only in the high cost of state government, but in the rapid and, I believe, wholly unwarranted in crease of its state expenditures. The boy Joe had had a golden veck at the home of the Brimsteads. The fair Annabel, knowing not the power that lay in her beauty, had captured his young heart scarcely fifteen years of age. He had no interest in her younger sister, Mary. But Annabel with her long skirts and full form and glowing eyes and gentle dignity, had stirred him to the depths. When he left he carried a soul heavy with re-gret and great resolutions. Not that he had mentioned the matter to her or you and I'm going to make it plain to to any one. It was a thing too sacred them that they don't have to worry for speech. To God, in his prayers, He asked to be made and to be

He would have had the whole world stopped and put to sleep for a term until he was delivered from the bondage of his tender youth That being impossible, it was for him a sad, but not a hopeless world Indeed, he rejoiced in his sadness. An nabel was four years older than he. If he could make her to know the depth of his passion, perhaps she would wait for him. He sought for self-expression in The Household Book of Poetry-a sorrowful and plous volume. He could find no indder of rhyme with an adequate reach. He endeavored to build one. He wrote melancholy verses and letters, confess ng his passion, to Annabel, which she did not encourage, but which she always kept and valued for their ingenuous and noble ardor. Some of these Anacroonties are among the treasures inherited by her descendants. They were a matter of slight importance, one would say, but they mark the beginning of a great career. Immediately after his return to the new home in Springfield, the boy. Josiah, set out to make himself hon-ored of his ideal. In the effort he nade himself honored of many. This of manhood.

DAIRY POINTS

MANY USES OF THERMOMETER

Particularly Essential to Give Tempera tures of Milk, Gream and of Butter Making.

(Prepared by the United States Departme of Agricultures) Hardly a useful instrument around farm is more neglected than the thermometer. Properly appreciated, it would serve the farmer in many ways. Exact information on the temperature of the air is of importance; but there are dozens of other uses.

A thermometer should be the constant companion of the dairyman. In probably no other department of the farm can a thermometer be used to greater advantage than in connection with dairy operations.

The temperatures at which milk cream, and butter are kept, and at which the various operations of butter making are carried on, are very im portant.

When milk is to be sold as such it should be immediately cooled. The reason for this is to stop the increase of bacteria as much as possible. Bac half hour if the temperatures are Butter should be stored in a cool place to keep it sweet For all these purposes it is essential to have a thermometer, and one that can be depended upon for accuracy.

The necessity of maintaining con rect_temperature_in_an_incubator_need not be emphasized. The temperature is correct at 103 degrees, and it should not go lower than that, especially during the first six days. Some inc bators have an electric alarm which riugs a bell when the temperature goes below 103 degrees.

In the care of live stock, the clinical or fever thermometer may be found very useful. The following are the Swine, 104; goats or sheep, 102 to 103; dogs, 99 to 100. A rise of 1 or 2

A "balanced diet" may sound confusing to many people

The facts, as explained here, are simple.

The secret of a "balanced diet" is to have food containing all the elements needed for proper nutrition. These elements are protein, to nourish the tissues; starch and sugar to furnish energy; fat to supply heat; and mineral salts to provide the material necessary for building nerves, brain, and tooth and bone structure.
